

LAMDA Examinations

Regional Workshops 2010

As in previous years, LAMDA Examinations will be running a range of Regional Workshops in May and June. These workshops are designed to support centres and teachers who are actively preparing learners for LAMDA Examinations or are looking to in the future. To assist with the introduction of the new syllabuses, this year's workshops will focus on the new Communication and Performance syllabus specifications, which came into effect on 1 September 2009. The workshops will explore the changes within each subject, the new knowledge requirements and the repertoire that now forms the new Verse and Prose Anthology (Volume 17) and Acting Anthology (Volume 2).

The year's workshops will be heavily focused on the new syllabus specifications but there will be an opportunity for practical work and to ask questions relating to any areas of LAMDA Examinations.

Places on the above workshops are limited, so please book early.

These workshops present an opportunity for Continuing Professional Development (CPD) and certificates of attendance will be presented to all delegates who attend one or both full days.

Registration is at 09.30, when tea and coffee will be served. Each workshop will commence at 10.00 and finish at approximately 17.00. There will be a 60 minute lunch break, with lunch provided. If you have any special dietary requirements, please ensure these are explained in the appropriate section on the second page of this form.

Please note that cancellations made within one calendar month of each session will be non-refundable.
